ENCYCLOPEDIA OF TERROR VICTIMS OF THE ISLAMIC REPUBLIC OF IRAN

Introduction

The present work, entitled as Encyclopedia of 23000 Iranian Terror Victims, is the second edition of the list of Iranian victims of terrorism, which was published in 2011 under the name Encyclopedia of 17000 Iranian Terror Victims.

Even though Iran has been plagued by violent acts of terror since the Islamic Revolution in February 1979, and for many years after, many citizens have fallen victim to such attacks in various parts of the country, making Iran one of the largest victims of terrorism in the region and even the world, no steps had been taken to identify and document the victims of terror.

A significant number of Iranian civilians fell victim to terrorist attacks in the first decade after the Islamic Revolution. These terror victims, despite their sacrifice, remained largely forgotten. Recognizing these innocent terror victims, who stand as stark evidence of the human rights violations against Iranian citizens, is a crucial first step towards acknowledging the rights of their families.

Since its formation in 2005, Habilian has championed this cause. Through a dedicated research project, Habilian published Iran's first official list of terror victims, which was largely unknown until then. This initiative served as a cornerstone in introducing these victims to society and establishing the concept of terror victim as a distinct category in the country. Government officials, those working with victims' affairs, human rights advocates, diplomats, writers, researchers, and media outlets have all referenced and relied upon this comprehensive record. However, this groundbreaking initiative, leveraging diverse written and documentary resources, has fostered a national understanding of the vastness and severity of these terrorist crimes. Moreover, it has alerted relevant parties to the potential and ongoing threats posed by certain anti-Iranian groups actively planning destructive acts in Western nations, fueled by Iranophobia and negative media portrayals. The significance of the 17000 figure extended beyond national borders; it was presented by Iranian officials to the UN Office in Geneva and even referenced in international reports, such as the report of Ahmed Shaheed, the Special Rapporteur on the situation of human rights in the Islamic Republic of Iran, to the 19th session of the Human Rights Council.

The 2010s, the years following the publishing of Encyclopedia of 17000 Iranian Terror Victims, stand out as a turbulent era in Iran's history, marked by a significant rise in terrorist attacks targeting its citizens. A multitude of threats emerged on multiple fronts:

- Takfiri terrorist groups gained a foothold in the southeast and western regions;
- Kurdish terrorist and separatist groups intensified their activities in the west, northwest, and along the border, resorting to kidnappings and murders of Iranian Kurds and targeting border guards;
- Arab terrorist and separatist groups in the southwest stepped up their activities;
- The Israeli regime's agents assassinated Iranian scientists and nuclear activists;
- Regional Takfiri groups like ISIS infiltrated Iran's geographical and security sphere, carrying out terrorist attacks;
- Iran's military and servicemen engaged in regional struggles against Takfiri terrorists in Syria and Iraq.

This complex mix of threats, which significantly shaped Iran's political and security landscape during the 2010s, coupled with the growing calls of the families of those who fell victim during this decade fueled our decision to update the list.

As the figure of 17000 terror victims had become a powerful symbol ingrained in Iran's political discourse for over a decade, revising such a significant number was no easy feat. Recognizing the need to address new realities and growing demands, Habilian embarked on a comprehensive project with the goal of collecting and compiling data on all Iranian victims of terrorism from February 11, 1979 to November 20, 2024 and update existing information.

The first step involved recognizing the importance of a clear and accurate definition of terrorism and terrorist acts, given the sensitive nature of the subject matter. A universally accepted definition would prevent divergence of opinions on this issue, especially as the list of terror victims was intended to serve as a national document for researchers, lawyers, human rights activists, and domestic and international bodies. This national document needed to reflect a consensus among experts and stakeholders, and the adopted definition should be both comprehensive and inclusive. For this reason, Habilian used Article 1 of the Anti-Terrorism Financing Law, approved by the Islamic Consultative Assembly on February 2, 2016 along with its subsequent articles and subsections, and the amendments made on July 22, 2018 as the basis for revising the list of terror victims, including those who were killed after March 21, 2011 (beginning of the Persian year 1390).

The most critical stage in the comprehensive project of Encyclopedia of 23000 Iranian Terror Victims involved initiating the data collection process from various domestic sources. Notably, a crucial resource unavailable during the 2000s, was the 42-volume Encyclopedia of Martyrs' Names published in the early 2010s by Shahed Publication, an affiliate of the Foundation of Martyrs and Veterans Affairs. Over 29000 pages from the Encyclopedia of Martyrs' Names were meticulously examined, extracting details of terror victims between 1979 and 2011. Subsequently, this information was cross-referenced with the Foundation of Martyrs and Veterans Affairs' databases. Finally, data on new terror victims from 2011 to March 19, 2024 was collected from those databases and incorporated into Encyclopedia of 23000 Iranian Terror Victims.

Beyond the victim's name, surname, and father's name, Encyclopedia of 23000 Iranian Terror Victims incorporates details such as date of birth and assassination, place of birth and assassination, religion, and the type of terrorist operation perpetrated against each victim. Additionally, appendices are included at the book's conclusion, featuring statistical and graphical tables that illustrate the frequency of terror victims and terrorist incidents across different Iranian cities, as well as photos of major terror attacks from the early days of the Islamic Revolution in Iran.

Finally, after three years of continuous research, Encyclopedia of 23000 Iranian Terror Victims has grown to encompass 23032 individuals. This national document serves as a powerful testament to the profound suffering endured by the Iranian people and stands as a humble tribute to each and every one of the victims of terror and their families.

It's important to note that Encyclopedia of 23000 Iranian Terror Victims focuses on the number of Iranian victims who were killed in terrorist attacks or in the fight against terrorist groups inside and outside the country, not the full scope of terrorist activities. Many terrorist acts aimed to cause destruction without necessarily resulting in fatalities. This highlights the multifaceted nature of terrorism. Terrorists employ various tools and methods to inflict damage, not just human casualties. They target not only lives but also our country's national infrastructure. The fact that numerous terrorist groups have emerged since the Islamic Revolution highlights the extent of efforts by domestic and foreign adversaries to harm the people and the revolution. Nevertheless, it also underscores the enduring strength and resilience of a political system grounded in popular support.

The 23032 victims introduced in Encyclopedia of 23000 Iranian Terror Victims were assassinated by more than 30 terrorist groups. Some of these groups include: Mojahedin-e Khalq Organization (MEK), Komala, Kurdish Democratic Party of Iran (KDPI), PJAK, PKK, Jaish ul-Adl, Jundallah, Khabat Organization of Iranian Kurdistan, Kingdom Assembly of Iran (Tondar), Forqan Group, Harakat Ansar Iran, Tawhid and Jihad, Ansar al-Furqan, Organization of Iranian People's Fedai Guerrillas (OIPFG), Peykar, Muslim People's Republic Party, The Union of Iranian Communists, Al-Nusra Front, Al-Qaeda, Arab Struggle Movement for the Liberation of Ahvaz (ASMLA), ISIS, Rezgari Party, Sipah-e-Sahaba, and the United States Central Command and Israeli regime.

The compilation of Encyclopedia of 23000 Iranian Terror Victims is an effort to fulfill the rights of the victims and survivors of terror attacks and to establish a vast human rights case with thousands of specific subjects. More than four decades have passed since the first terrorist attacks in the country, and what distinguishes the early years of terrorist attacks from the years that followed is our country's victory in the tough and relentless fight against terrorism and the expulsion of terrorist groups and their leaders from Iran. Unfortunately, many of these terrorist organizations, after fleeing the country, have settled in Western countries with the approval of their governments. Groups such as the Mojahedin-e Khalq Organization (MEK) and ethnic separatist terrorist groups operating in Khuzestan province and Kurdish-speaking regions were warmly welcomed by European and North American countries despite their involvement in terrorist crimes. Numerous official documents and reports from Western governments confirm their awareness of the violent and terrorist nature of these anti-Iranian groups. While some of these groups have been designated as terrorist organizations, Western countries have often adopted contradictory and inconsistent approaches, allowing these groups to operate freely and continue their violent activities. This double standard has resulted in the deaths of over 23000 Iranian citizens in nearly half a century. Western support goes beyond silence about the actions of these terror groups. These countries grant office space, enable anti-Iranian activities, arrange meetings with sympathetic politicians, provide financial support, and allow media propaganda, all while disregarding the human rights of Iranian victims. Such actions effectively aid and abet terrorism in its various forms.

Effective counter-terrorism requires more than just government and international cooperation. It also necessitates the active involvement of citizens, especially the families of victims and survivors. Public awareness campaigns and networks that connect these individuals can serve as powerful tools. They can educate the public and put pressure on governments and organizations that fail to fulfill their responsibilities, encouraging them to take meaningful action against terrorism and provide support for victims. Moreover, prioritizing preventive measures within educational systems is vital. Civil society organizations around the world, particularly in countries like Iran that have endured terrorism, play a crucial role in these efforts.

The coming years offer the potential for substantial progress in these areas. We are hopeful for a change in how certain Western governments address terrorism, especially those that maintain double standards in their approach.

In conclusion, we extend our heartfelt gratitude and appreciation to all those who played a role in bringing this momentous project to fruition at every stage.
